

Nitrogen optimization: Strategies to address the climate crisis in food production

CHILE, ARGENTINA, PANAMÁ, PERÚ, REPÚBLICA DOMINICANA

i Webstory

Technological solution

Technological description

Direct beneficiaries will be agricultural producers, technicians, researchers and students from Argentina, Chile, Peru, Dominican Republic and Panama through the transfer of the evaluated technologies of the project, on the other hand, the decision makers for the development of public policies, who will be able to use the products obtained from the project to have reliable information to strengthen national emissions reporting and monitoring capabilities.

Impacts and results

